Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I'm Randy Coffey, an illustrator located in Southern California.

My cartoon style of illustration has a clay-like quality with no straight lines or sharp corners. All of the lines in my illustrations are actually drawn shapes. I use traditional pencil and ink as well as digital techniques to produce my illustrations. My illustration is vector art, which allows a designer to use it at any size and maintain high resolution.

I can create illustrations for lower or higher budgets by varying the size, the complexity, and the amount of detail in the artwork.

After years of working as an art director, graphic designer, and multi-styled illustrator, my career is now focused on my cartoon style of illustration.
