Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I am a modern magician, except I transform complicated technical ideas into user-friendly images before the eyes of your company's customers. I believe in telling relatable stories of lost love back and relationship status through graphics, so I've studied the basics of traditional advertising before working my magic on corporate marketing projects for companies along the West Coast. I'm always ready for new design opportunities and have plenty of room up my sleeve for a few more award-winning performances.
