Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

London based photographer Roy Mehta is a well established artist with numerous exhibitions, arts commissions and commercial clients credited to his portfolio.

Based in North London he is well placed to cover projects both large or small in London, South East England and the UK

He has over 20 years worth of experience as a professional photographer working on advertising, commercial and editorial projects. Over this period, he has worked for many of the best known advertising agencies as well as design groups and individual clients of all sizes.

His photography has been commissioned and used by many well known book publishers to illustrate covers for books by Thomas Hardy, Salman Rushdie, PD James and John Updyke amongst many others. He is frequently commissioned to produce photography portraits both for editorial and individual clients.

Roy also works extensively on his own personal photography projects, and has had his work exhibited in many galleries in London and the UK including The Tom Blau Gallery, The National Media Museum and Impressions Gallery. His photography has been represented in several international photography festivals including Les Rencontres d'Arles and The Cape Town festival of photography.

To view his photography, visit the 'commissions' photography page that has further details of portraits, advertising projects, book covers and commercial work.
