Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Being creative is what makes me tick.

Regardless of what it is, I love the fulfilment that being able to create something beautiful brings.

I started out in the design industry, after having gained a BA(Hons) Degree in Product & Furniture design. I have since spent my time working in design studios from Leamington Spa to London, where photography has often gone hand-in-hand in the creative process. Aesthetics and visual language has always been the common ground that particularly interested me, and as time passed my passion for photography grew, and I started to enjoy my photography more!

Having been a primarily self-taught photographer for several years now, I decided to fine tune and hone my skills via a qualification, gaining a City & Guilds along the way. I am experienced in both studio & location photography, and have all of my own equipment to facilitate either of these types of photographic shoots. I also have my own home studio, which is fully equipped with professional grade lighting and photographic equipment.

The range of photography I cover is fairly broad, but whether I am photographing people, products or landscapes, my common aim is always the same - to capture what I see in a professional, creative, stylish, and beautiful way.

Some of the areas of photography I cover include: Portraiture / Children / Landscape / Product / Lifestyle / Interiors / Architecture / Events / Model Portfolios & Fashion. However, I am always looking for new photographic challenges, and thrive from the energy that trying something new, or exploring a creative idea brings.

I am based at the heart of England in the Worcestershire area, but often go wherever my photography takes me.
