Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae
I'm an independent graphic designer.

And I've been doing it for well over 10 years now from a middle-sized city down in México.
My practice focuses on brand design, digital interface design and illustration.

I've worked for several clients from all over the world, from the good old USA all the way to England and some others in between. My clients have come from a wide range of industries and sectors such as entertainment and fashion, food and construction, communications and software development. So you can say my experience has been varied.

I've worked for ad agencies and design firms while also working directly for some big and some very small clients developing strong brands or digital interfaces, my focus has always been to help them grow or stay strong.

I devote most of my free time to pursue my personal art and design projects. I also like to collect toys and play videogames with my son.
