10 of the World's Most Expensive Dishes

We live in a world of extravaganzas. Gaudy homes, showy cars; much of the time we don't think twice about treating ourselves to these luxuries. But imagine paying hundreds, if not thousands of dollars for a meal, something that will only last as long as your appetite? Below you will find some of the World's Top 10 Most Expensive Dishes, sure to be much more appetizing than their price tag.

$110

Ramen

Fujimaki Gekkiyo, Tokyo, Japan
Most are familiar with instant ramen noodles, and according to a Japanese poll conducted in 2000, "the Japanese believe their best invention of the 20th century was instant noodles."

Ingredients:

- Chinese stock
- Thin soy yam stick
- Imperial ramen noodles
- 20 other "secret" ingredients

$145-49

The Ultra-Dog

Capital Dwg, Sacramento
Taking the title back from the Canadians, the ultra-dog holds the Guinness world record for the priciest hot dog.

Ingredients:

- Monte Cheno
- 3/4 lb. Beef frank
- Smoked maple bacon
- Prosciutto roll
- Italian white truffle butter
- French whole grain mustard
- Garlic-herb mayonnaise
- Local Sacramento balsamic vinaigrette

$197

Von Essen Platinum Club Sandwich

Von Essen, Berkshire, England
The Club Sandwich is thought to have originated at the gentlemen's only gambling house, Saratoga Club-House, in New York in 1894.

Ingredients:

- Iberico ham, air-cured for 30 months
- Poulet de Bresse
- White truffles
- Quail eggs
- Semi-dried Italian tomatoes
- 24-hour fermented sour dough bread

$800 - $1,100

"The End of History" Beer

BrewDog, Scotland
If the $800 - $1,100 price tag of this Belgian ale doesn't seem outrageous enough, perhaps the fact that the brewmasters packaged the bottles inside tampered squirrel carcasses will serve to up its opulence.

Ingredients:

- Blond Belgian ale reduced down to one 330ml bottle
- 55% alcohol content
- Juniper berries
- Mead
- Nettles
- Roadkill carcass

$1,000

Bagel

Westin Hotel, New York City
The recent price paid for a single white truffle, one of the ingredients found on this decadent bagel, was $330,000 for a truffle weighing 3.3 pounds.

Ingredients:

- White truffle cream cheese
- Gail berry infused Riesling jelly
- 23-carat gold leaf

$1,000

Golden Opulence Sundae

Sensodipity 3, New York City
The cocoa beans used to make Chuao chocolate are harvested off of the coast of Venezuela.

Ingredients:

- Tahitian vanilla bean ice cream
- Tuscan Amaretto
- Portobello chocolate
- Chuao chocolate
- Candied Parisian fruits
- Truffles
- Cherry marzipan
- Sweetened Grand Pison caviar
- 23-karat gold leaf

$1,000

Gillion Dollar Frittata

Norma's, New York City
This frittata contains the fewest ingredients of all the dishes on our list, with the greatest cost coming from the sevruga caviar. Surprisingly enough, no one has dumped gold leaf on top...yet.

Ingredients:

- 1 whole lobster
- Eggs
- 10 ounces of sevruga caviar (at $65 per ounce)

$2,000 / slice

Wagyu Meat Pie

Fence Gate Inn, Lancashire, Britain
This $10,000 per pie, (that's about $2,000 a slice), is anything but delicate. Considering its price tag, you would think this pie would be sophisticated and stuffed with diamonds; instead, it's quite the monstrosity of meat and mushrooms. Packed with nearly six pounds of Kobe beef, the price of this pie is also bolstered by the $510 per pound matsutake mushroom.

Ingredients:

- Slices of Kobe beef
- Matsutake Mushrooms
- Truffles
- 2 bottles of 1982 Chateau Mouton Rothschild wine
- Edible 23-carat gold leaf

$3,000

Samundari Bhagana Seafood Curry

Bombay Brasserie, London
Ironically enough, this pricey curry was created by Chef Prashad Hogg to coincide with the DVD release of the film Slumdog Millionaire.

Ingredients:

- Dungen crab
- Scottish lobster
- Abalone
- White truffle shavings
- Edible gold leaf
- Beluga caviar

$12,000

Louis XIII Pizza

Chef Renato Viola, Italy
Pizza, one of the humblest of foods, is already undeniably great in its simplicity. The "Louis XIII" however, is a pie topped with lobster, caviar, eight different types of cheese, and seasoned with hand-picked pink Australian river salt, plus, Chef Viola will send his chefs to make it for you anywhere in Italy costing a total of $12,000!

Ingredients:

- Lobster
- Caviar
- Eight types of cheese
- Pink Australian river salt
