Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I am a student at school but aside from the uselessly overpriced theory classes I'm taking, I believe it is upon the responsibility of the individual to learn outside of the classroom and engage in the world around them. I think if you want to do something, it is up to you to do it.

I have always been in community service for the reality of it. I don't care much for hollow articulation and think that bureaucracy is a poor substitute for credentials and the dexterity of the human ideal.

We are amazing.
