Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

My name is Jonathan D. Woodyard, this is my blog, a collection of my art, pictures, designs, short stories, poems, and essentially anything that has to do with my creative side. I am an unlearned novice at all the aforementioned things and am using this blog to chronicle my way to having a better understanding of such things. My goal is to one day actually profit from my creativity. What would be cooler than to be capable of making an living from what intrigues me?
