Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae
Photography and visual communication are at the core of my work and personal life. I'm a passionate, all or nothing person, which means I spend most of my time creating photographs or talking about ideas involving them.

Drawn by clean lines and repetitive elements ever present in the Built Environment, I'm regularly commissioned to bring my unique perspective to architectural and interior projects.

Equally the adrenalin and excitement of sports photography leads me to work with brands and athletes' to capture the intimate rush and emotion to share with their audience. I work directly with clients and agencies, who appreciate the good communication and fresh approach and experience I bring to projects. I enjoy the creative process, bouncing ideas that lead up to the photographic process.

My personal work covers a broad spectrum of subjects from street portrait photography to architectural iPhoneography. I'm constantly inspired to capture elements of the everyday environment and the people within it. This combined with rapid growth and accessibility of social media, allows me to share my work as it is evolving.
